

YOUR VOTE, YOUR CO-OP

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A

MEMBER OWNER

At Southeastern Indiana REMC, you're more than just a customer—you're a member-owner. That means you have a voice in the decisions that shape your cooperative, including electing the Board of Directors who help guide our future. As we approach the 2025 Board of Directors Election, let's take a closer look at the power of your vote and why member participation matters.

MEMBER ENGAGEMENT IN ACTION

7

The number of counties SEI REMC serves, each represented by local directors elected by members.

3

The number of board seats up for election this year, giving members the opportunity to influence leadership.

1000s

The number of votes cast each year by members like you, helping shape the direction of our cooperative.

100%

Unlike investor-owned utilities, SEI REMC is a not-for-profit cooperative, meaning every member has an equal say in how we operate.

THE POWER OF PARTICIPATION

Your vote is more than a checkbox—it's a way to ensure your voice is heard. Whether you're passionate about sustainability, technology, or affordability, voting in the Board of Directors Election is a simple yet powerful way to shape the future of SEI REMC.

STAY INFORMED. GET INVOLVED. MAKE YOUR VOTE COUNT.

That's the power of being a member-owner.

WHY YOUR VOTE MATTERS

When you vote in the Board of Directors Election, you're choosing leaders who will make decisions on:

ELECTRIC RATES & POLICIES

Ensuring fair pricing and responsible financial management.

SYSTEM UPGRADES & RELIABILITY

Investing in infrastructure to keep power reliable and affordable.

MEMBER PROGRAMS & SERVICES

Expanding rebates, energy efficiency incentives, and community initiatives.
